A barrel of oil was dipped from off the old McIntyre well, two miles north of Pittsfield Warren county, last week—showing beyond a doubt, says a correspondent, the existence of the greasy fluid in the valley of the Brokenstraw.

In the Supreme Court of Orange county, N. Y., on Tuesday, Arthur C. Biglow was awarded $15,000 damages against the Erie Railway Company. The action was bro't by M. C. Biglow, guardian of the plaintiff, who is an infant 8 years of age, for injuries received by being thrown from a car at Car's Rock Pa., in April, 1865, when the entire train ran off the track. It was claimed that young Biglow's intellect was impaired by the shock and his memory greatly injured.

ANOTHER crowded house greeted Sherry's New York Theatre, at the Opera House, last evening. The acting was good, each and all of the performers appearing to vie with one another in their efforts to please the public. To-night will be produced the charming drama, illustrative of Irish character, entitled, "Peep O'Day, or Savourneen Deelish."

Great excitement prevails in Wabash, Ind., over the enforcement of the Sunday law.—Men, women and children are indicted for loitering, sewing, knitting and blacking boots on that day. About one hundred indictments were lately returned into court against the best citizens of the town, including several ladies. Three negro barrels were in the list.

The Parker's Landing correspondent of the Pittsburgh COMMERCIAL, writes to that paper as follows:

There were three new wells struck here on Saturday, "The Hope Well," on the east side of the river, pumping fifteen barrels a day. This well is owned by Dr. Finley, James E. Brown, J. B. Robinson, and others from Kittanning. "The Evelin" No. 1, on Fox farm, is fully sixty barrels. This well is owned by Wm. Robinson and others from Kittanning. "The Elizabeth," on the Robinson farm, forty barrels. This well is also owned by parties from Kittanning.—These last two wells are situated a little above the mouth of the Clarion River, on the west side of the river.

The shipments of oil from this station during the month of November were fifteen thousand six hundred and fifty-one barrels. The amount on hand ready for shipment is twelve thousand barrels, which added to the amount shipped is twenty-seven thousand six hundred and fifty-one barrels. Deduct the amount on hand the 1st of November, six thousand five hundred barrels, shows the amount produced at the place to be twenty-one thousand one hundred and fifty-one barrels. The average yield per day now is thirteen hundred barrels.

There are to be several wells tested this week. Within the last month there have been two new pipe lines put down, at the mouth of the Clarion, by Messrs. Hannes & Martin, of Petroleum Centre; the other not far from Anchor's Station, put down by Parker & Thompson, of this place, so that the facilities for getting the oil across the river now are good.

The Venango SPECTATOR has the following items: "Sheriff Herpet started on Wednesday morning with the following prisoners for the Western Penitentiary:

Gus Rbiel, convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to eleven years and ten months solitary confinement. The extreme limit in cases like Rbiel's is twelve years, but the two months were added in conformity with the law which provides that a prisoner's sentence shall not expire during the winter months.

Edward Lynch, convicted of larceny, goes for one year and three months.

Isaac Cousins, alias Samuel Sanford, convicted of horse-stealing, was sentenced to one year and three months.

V. Hillwood, convicted of mayhem, is booked for one year and six months.

The work on the road between Franklin and Oil City is rapidly going forward under the new contractors, Messrs. Lord & Bellows. The bridge across French creek will soon be ready for the rails. It is a handsome and substantial structure. The whole extension will be ready for the cars some time in February next.

E. G. Crawford, the newly elected Prothonotary, was sworn and assumed the duties of the office on Wednesday. It is said there will be an entire change in the central force, and that N. B. Riddle, late Deputy Sheriff, is to be one of the new clerks.

The production in the Tidoute regions for the week ending November 25th amounted to 7,323 barrels; the shipments for the same period were 6,873 barrels, and the total in tank at Hickory and Tidoute was 30,366 barrels. The Tidoute Journal says: On the New York and Allegheny tract, the wells are producing about the same as at last report, with the exception of No. 5, which was increasing nicely until the boiler exploded, when of course all production ceased for the time being. On the Tidoute and Warren Company's tract, the company well is down five hundred feet, and are nearly ready to drill. The Boardman well has been deepened, and is pumping twenty barrels. G. L. Binney's new well is being tested with flattering prospects.

ANOTHER HELL GATE.—The following story shows that there is in Pennsylvania what New Yorkers have only in a figurative sense, a Hell Gate. The story is going the rounds of the press, and is as true as when it was told the first time: On the farm of West Fry, at Finleyville, Pa., there is said to be a spot of ground, about twenty-three feet square on the surface, where nothing has grown this year, not even a spear of grass, although previously as productive as any other part of the field. Potatoes planted there last season never sprouted. Strange noises have been heard, as of the approach of a storm; investigations prove that they proceeded from that spot. Recently a hole was dug at that locality, and at the depth of four feet small crevices were discovered, from which strong streams of gas gushed with a sort of hissing noise, and, upon being ignited, burned with a clear, steady flame. Water soaked into the excavation, the stream of gas caused it to bubble, and the gas accumulated on the surface burned with a bluish light, like the flames from alcohol.

News Items. Robert Rowland, a blacksmith, committed suicide in Jeffersonville, Ind., by cutting his throat. Cause, whisky and spiritualism.

The latest accounts from Obion County, Tenn., represent all quiet. Two of the negroes thought to have been killed by the mob after the affair at Jones, escaped by falling when the others were shot. They are now in Troy jail for safety from the mob. Mr. Jones is still in Memphis.

The boats belonging to the East Boston ferry have been purchased by the city for $275,000, possession the first of April next.

Mrs. Boswell Lee, mother of Bishop Lee, of Iowa, died on Thursday, at Springfield, Mass.

A city election—the first since 1865—takes place in Montgomery, Ala., on Monday next.

Sheriff G. M. Steinborger was shot dead Saturday night at New Liberia, La., by a negro murderer, who was soon afterwards captured and hung by citizens.

Both Houses of the South Carolina Legislature adopted resolutions expressive of sympathy for Cuba, requesting the recognition of the insurgents as belligerents by the United States, and pledging the last dollar and man to the Government in case of war.

A colored man was elected engrossing clerk in the Alabama House, the Democrats voting for him in opposition to a white man.

A man named Huleth shot and killed another named Williams at Latrop, Mo., in a dispute at the gambling table, Huleth was arrested.

At Augusta, Ky., on Tuesday, James Asbury shot and killed Wm. Reynolds.—Asbury was arrested.

A special from St. Paul says an arrival from Pembina brings a proclamation from Governor McTavish, warning the rebels against their revolutionary proceedings, and threatened subversion of authority of Her Majesty's government.

The Marietta Register says a forty barrel well was struck at Cow Run on November 17th. This well was commenced in November, 1868; bored to the depth of 763 feet, and struck a good show of oil the first of last April. It was then found impossible for some days to make any headway in getting deeper, and foul play was suspected. It was then tubed and two or three barrels of oil a day obtained pumping stopped, and the well did its own work, producing about two barrels a day till two or three weeks ago, when drilling was again attempted. It was impossible to make much headway, till finally on Wednesday, 17th inst., it began to increase the flow of oil, and has been flowing forty barrels a day. It has not yet been tubed; has 696 feet of artesian casing, and is in splendid order.

They have a novel way of courting in Erie. On Monday evening a young gentleman of the Teutonic persuasion named Jacob Gebelin paid his addresses to a young lady of that city named Miss Selicke. Not being pleased with his "advances" she "secrarily replied" the loving swain, at which the DISPATCH says, "he got angry, and knocked her down with a chair, struck her several times, and inflicted a number of bruises."—After this rather vigorous demonstration of his love and devotion, Jacob took his departure, but the girl's brother, a friend and policeman, discovering his whereabouts, quickly found quarters for him at the lock-up, where he will doubtless have abundant leisure for studying up some more soothing manner in which to tell his love.

A Duluth, Minn., correspondent says: "When I came here last spring an Indian trail was used as road and sidewalks, and five or six houses comprised the town. Now sidewalks, elegant residences and first class stores greet you on every corner. The telegraph carries us the pulsations of Paris and New York, and the hills resound and re-echo the whistle of the locomotive."
